Hes out there just with out us, im not mad at you i just didnt understand i knew since day one me and you been thru everything together i held your family down while you was in jail I was wheeling to die for them i swear. But you didnt have to blame me for this cuz bot we pass that all i can do like i tell your brother all i do for is to make it right then people's is just trying ~~to~~ use you to get a conviction im not going out like that ill sit down here for 5 to 6 years fighting this, you could have just blamed me for the drugs we both would have been out now there trying have you sit here for years until the case is over. you didn't do anything you just got caught with drugs they trying scare you and threaten you like they did my fakes but this is how we going do this like you said ill take your drugs im cool with that but you gotta contact my lawyer ~~my~~ lawyer this that i wasnt with you that you dropped me off on victoria and catalpic before for all this happen you then pick some dude you dont really know op thats when all the ~~accused~~ accused once you get away you change your car he jump in your girls black maxima and come to where I was at on victoria thats when I seen I seen me and the people who live there standing outside i then asked you to take me up my cousin's house and you dropped me off there! Tell him only reason you lied on me is because i left some drugs in your car and at your house that you didnt know that was in there and you lied because you knew i was right on the street over and i was just with you and you really didnt know the dude you picked up -so you said me, say your not trying paper hand's in take your charges i already talk to your brother about that when you do that your lawyer can come then you can get out you will be here forever waiting on this. I promise. I'ma call your brother to let him know everything is good don't be talking crazy on the phone about it or around because you want
